Querer, produced by Movistar Plus+ in collaboration with Kowalski Films and Feelgood Media, is the first television series directed by Alauda Ruiz de Azúa and will be launched on Movistar Plus+ in October.

Considered one of Spain's most promising directors after winning the Goya award for Best New Director for "Cinco Lobitos" (a film that won three Goyas), Alauda Ruiz de Azúa, together with Eduard Sola and Júlia de Paz, wrote the scripts for the four episodes of the series.

The fiction series stars Nagore Aranburu (“Irati”, “Intimidad”, “Loreak”), Pedro Casablanc (“B, la película”), Miguel Bernardeau (“1899”, “Élite”), Iván Pellicer (“Paraís”), and Loreto Mauleón (“Los renglones torcidos de Dios”, “Patria”).

International distribution will be handled by Movistar Plus+ International.

Synopsis: After 30 years of marriage and two children together, Miren leaves the marital home and accuses her husband of repeated rape. This serious accusation forces the children to choose between believing their mother or supporting a father who maintains his innocence. A family journey that runs alongside the legal process with the same objective: to find out the truth.

Los años nuevos is an original series from Movistar Plus+ in collaboration with Caballo Films and will be distributed internationally by Movistar Plus+ International.

Rodrigo Sorogoyen is the director and executive producer of this fiction series created by Sara Cano, Paula Fabra, and Sorogoyen himself, with Sandra Romero and David Martín joining him as co-directors.

This is Rodrigo Sorogoyen's third collaboration with Movistar Plus+ after the acclaimed “Antidisturbios” and “Apagón”.

Los años nuevos depicts the life journey of the couple played by Iria del Río and Francesco Carril over the course of a decade, narrated over 10 episodes that revolve around the same time of the year: New Year's Eve.

Synopsis: Ana turns 30 on New Year's Day with her life still in a state of flux: she lives in a shared apartment, dislikes her job, and frequently changes friends. Oscar turns 30 on New Year's Eve with his life pretty much figured out: career as a doctor, loyal friends, and a casual relationship that comes and goes. On the night they both turn 30, they meet, fall in love, and begin a relationship whose ups and downs will last for ten years.
